

FAIR

A GAIN

PER DAY

Over Last Year of

65,520

is shown by comparing the record of papers printed in November, 1891, and November, 1892.

WEATHER

INDICATIONS

PRICE ONE CENT.

EXTRA.

2 O'CLOCK.

GARDNER IN A CELL.

The Superintendent of Dr. Parkhurst's Society a Prisoner.

Supt. Byrnes Says the Charge is Blackmail.

Arraigned in the Tombs Court To-Day and Remanded.

A sensation was caused in the Tombs Court this morning when Superintendent of Dr. Parkhurst's Society a prisoner. Charles E. Gardner, Superintendent of Dr. Parkhurst's Society for the Prevention of Crime.

REV. DR. CHARLES E. PARKHURST. The detectives exerted themselves to rush the prisoner in and out of court without exciting notice, but their evident anxiety to conceal the real situation aroused suspicion, and it became known that the great apostle of the celebrated divine's society was there as a prisoner and not, as was at first supposed, as the complainant in some case.

Once Proud of His Notoriety. Gardner had been in the Tombs Court on many occasions, and he was well known and frequently pointed out as one of the actors in the now celebrated performance for Dr. Parkhurst's benefit at Hattie Adams's house in East Twenty-seventh street, which resulted in sending her to prison.

He had seemed to enjoy his notoriety, and apparently felt proud of the notice he attracted, as he was always evidenced by his erect carriage, conspicuous smile and air of ostentation.

But what a contrast did he present this morning! His silky mustache and pompadour hair showed signs of neglect.

Something besides a care for his personal appearance was evidently predominant in his mind. What ever it was weighed down upon him heavily.

New "Badly Broken Up." He was nervous and excited. His face was almost ghastly in appearance and his eyes were red, either from sleeplessness or the shedding of tears. He was, as a policeman vulgarly expressed it, "badly broken up."

The detectives remained at a distance from the prisoner with the intention of deceiving the reporters into the belief that he was on some other business than to answer to criminal charges.

The reporters were uncertain until the prisoner walked up to the bar at the back of the courtroom.

Justice McMahon looked like a suspicion of a smile and merely said: "Remanded."

Harder gave his name to the clerk and followed the detectives out of the building. The three men took a Fourth Avenue car and returned to Police Headquarters.

Blackmail or Extortion? Justice McMahon refused to tell anything about the case, but one of the clerks said that the charge against the prisoner was either extortion or blackmail, he was not certain which.

No formal complaint, however, had been made, and it was to allow time to secure affidavits that the prisoner was remanded.

The detectives refused to talk, referring all inquiries to Inspector McLaughlin. Inspector McLaughlin also refused to say anything, except that later in the day he would have more information to give.

Supt. Byrnes also refused to talk about the case. He said, say, however, that the charge against Gardner was blackmail.

The return made by Inspector McLaughlin, to Supt. Byrnes, reads as follows: "Gardner, aged twenty-two years, married; complainant, suspicious person; complainant, Little John, 10 West Fifty-third street; arrested made by Supt. Byrnes."

More Aid for Mrs. Hannon. The 4th St. to THE EVENING WORLD Saturday. Mrs. Abbie Hannon was delivered by Dr. Hannon in the day and a receipt of $125.00 was given to her for the receipt of $125.00 from three working girls, who made her a pleasant call Thanksgiving evening.

Twelve Female Prisoners Escape. CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—A fire broke out in the basement of the Women's Home last night, and twelve of thirty-seven girls in the institution escaped. The fire originated from the kitchen, and it is now thought it was only a fire and not a riot.

I Want That $500.00.

I estimate that the average number of copies of The World printed per day during 1892 will be found to have been _____

Name _____

Address _____

DECEMBER 5.—Address The World, Box 2,384, N.Y.

PRICE ONE CENT.

EXTRA.
2 O'CLOCK.
GARDNER IN A CELL.
The Superintendent of Dr. Parkhurst's Society a Prisoner.
Supt. Byrnes Says the Charge is Blackmail.
Arraigned in the Tombs Court To-Day and Remanded.

A sensation was caused in the Tombs Court this morning when Superintendent of Dr. Parkhurst's Society a prisoner. Charles E. Gardner, Superintendent of Dr. Parkhurst's Society for the Prevention of Crime.

REV. DR. CHARLES E. PARKHURST. The detectives exerted themselves to rush the prisoner in and out of court without exciting notice, but their evident anxiety to conceal the real situation aroused suspicion, and it became known that the great apostle of the celebrated divine's society was there as a prisoner and not, as was at first supposed, as the complainant in some case.

Once Proud of His Notoriety. Gardner had been in the Tombs Court on many occasions, and he was well known and frequently pointed out as one of the actors in the now celebrated performance for Dr. Parkhurst's benefit at Hattie Adams's house in East Twenty-seventh street, which resulted in sending her to prison.

He had seemed to enjoy his notoriety, and apparently felt proud of the notice he attracted, as he was always evidenced by his erect carriage, conspicuous smile and air of ostentation.

But what a contrast did he present this morning! His silky mustache and pompadour hair showed signs of neglect.

Something besides a care for his personal appearance was evidently predominant in his mind. What ever it was weighed down upon him heavily.

New "Badly Broken Up." He was nervous and excited. His face was almost ghastly in appearance and his eyes were red, either from sleeplessness or the shedding of tears. He was, as a policeman vulgarly expressed it, "badly broken up."

The detectives remained at a distance from the prisoner with the intention of deceiving the reporters into the belief that he was on some other business than to answer to criminal charges.

The reporters were uncertain until the prisoner walked up to the bar at the back of the courtroom.

Justice McMahon looked like a suspicion of a smile and merely said: "Remanded."

Harder gave his name to the clerk and followed the detectives out of the building. The three men took a Fourth Avenue car and returned to Police Headquarters.

POINTERS ON THE RACES.
Odds on Favorites Will Be the Rule of To-Day's Card.
The Two-Year-Old and Hurdle Races Are the Features.

The card at Gutterburg to-day should furnish some interesting sport. The six events are well filled and the entries are of good class. Considering the condition of the track, secretary Watchdog has done well to get such a good class of horses together. The two-year-olds ought to furnish an excellent contest, and the hurdle race will also be worth looking at, notwithstanding the same lot of horses are entered. Prince Fortunatus, Sir Walter Raleigh, Frontenac and others ought to go well at nine furlongs. Odds on favorites will be the rule in most of the events, and as far as is judged they will go through. The track will be hard, but sloppy on top. The going will be good. The entries and selections are as follows:

First Race—Purse $200; best of horses, six furlongs. 1. D. F. Galt's Last Harry, 112. 2. J. W. Smith's Woodchopper, 117. 3. J. W. Smith's Woodchopper, 117. 4. J. W. Smith's Woodchopper, 117. 5. J. W. Smith's Woodchopper, 117. 6. J. W. Smith's Woodchopper, 117.

Second Race—Purse $400; for two-year-olds, five and a half furlongs. 1. J. W. Smith's Woodchopper, 117. 2. J. W. Smith's Woodchopper, 117. 3. J. W. Smith's Woodchopper, 117. 4. J. W. Smith's Woodchopper, 117. 5. J. W. Smith's Woodchopper, 117. 6. J. W. Smith's Woodchopper, 117.

Third Race—Purse $400; for two-year-olds, five and a half furlongs. 1. J. W. Smith's Woodchopper, 117. 2. J. W. Smith's Woodchopper, 117. 3. J. W. Smith's Woodchopper, 117. 4. J. W. Smith's Woodchopper, 117. 5. J. W. Smith's Woodchopper, 117. 6. J. W. Smith's Woodchopper, 117.

Fourth Race—Purse $400; for two-year-olds, five and a half furlongs. 1. J. W. Smith's Woodchopper, 117. 2. J. W. Smith's Woodchopper, 117. 3. J. W. Smith's Woodchopper, 117. 4. J. W. Smith's Woodchopper, 117. 5. J. W. Smith's Woodchopper, 117. 6. J. W. Smith's Woodchopper, 117.

WHO IS THE MAN FOR FRANCE?
Deville and Loubet Have Refused to Form a Ministry.
Rumor that Carnot May Resign Discredited by a Correspondent.

PARIS, Dec. 5.—It is announced this afternoon that both M. Deville and M. Loubet have refused to undertake the formation of a cabinet. It is expected that President Carnot will be obliged to again summon M. Brisson or M. Ribot to attempt to form a Ministry.

M. Loubet, the former Prime Minister, had a long interview with President Carnot this morning, and consented to accept a portfolio if a Cabinet should be formed by M. Deville. Loubet, Dec. 5.—The announcement of Paris correspondent utterly disbelieves the rumors that President Carnot contemplates resigning his position. It is doubtless difficult, but there is no reason why he should not, if no other issue is possible, call upon the Radicals to form a Cabinet.

The only possible serious danger is that he should fail to see that the Panama investigation Committee must not be checked or resisted. It is generally admitted that Editor Herz had nothing to do with the Panama affair.

THEY CHOKED MRS. CLAUSSEN.
Four Burglars Assaulted Her and Her Husband.

Three men, giving their names as George Lovell, James Lane and Michael Murphy, were this morning arraigned in the Tombs Court on the charge of burglary and assault, when the following story was told:

HIS FUNERAL TO-DAY.
All Ready for the Last Rites Over Jay Gould's Body.
None but Relatives and Invited Guests to Be Admitted.

Services to Be Held in His House at 4 O'Clock This Afternoon.

All arrangements for the funeral of Jay Gould, which will take place at his house at Forty-seventh and Fifth avenue, at 4 o'clock this afternoon, have been completed, and the big brown-stone mansion is in readiness for the reception of the family friends who will attend the services.

Probably not more than 100 persons will be present, for the house will not accommodate a larger number, and strangers will not be admitted. The house seems completely deserted this morning, and no signs of life are visible anywhere about it. The windows are all tightly drawn, and the only drapery of black crepe which hangs from the doorbells marks the presence of death within.

Now and then a carriage would stop in front of the house and a gentleman or lady ascend the steps, but the latter would be brief, and the visitors only looking cards at the door and then driving away again.

The body of the dead millionaire lies in its coffin, which stands draped in black, in the center of the large parlor on the first floor, to the right of the hall. The floral decorations are simple and chaste, and there is no display of ostentation. This is in accordance with the last wish of Mr. Gould before his death.

TO FREE LITTLE JOE.
Cleveland at Home Again.
The President-Elect Arrived in New York This Morning.

President-elect Cleveland arrived in Jersey City from his shooting trip on an island in Chesapeake Bay at 7 o'clock this morning on the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk Express of the Pennsylvania Railroad. He came on a private car, belonging to General Superintendent Kenney, of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad. The train was eight minutes late.

Mr. Cleveland's valet, for whom he had telegraphed from Annapolis, Va., last night, appeared in the depot about 7:30 o'clock, having left his distinguished employer's private carriage at the ferry entrance, where, with the exception of a small squad of reporters, the valet was the only one on hand to meet the President-elect.

As Mr. Cleveland stepped out of the private car he was followed by the colored porter, leading a white and yellow spotted pointer dog, Mr. Cleveland wore a black suit and a black and white check tie. He carried over his left arm another black pointer dog, and he walked briskly down the platform to meet the President-elect.

Mr. Cleveland's valet, for whom he had telegraphed from Annapolis, Va., last night, appeared in the depot about 7:30 o'clock, having left his distinguished employer's private carriage at the ferry entrance, where, with the exception of a small squad of reporters, the valet was the only one on hand to meet the President-elect.

As Mr. Cleveland stepped out of the private car he was followed by the colored porter, leading a white and yellow spotted pointer dog, Mr. Cleveland wore a black suit and a black and white check tie. He carried over his left arm another black pointer dog, and he walked briskly down the platform to meet the President-elect.

TO FREE LITTLE JOE.
Cleveland at Home Again.
The President-Elect Arrived in New York This Morning.

President-elect Cleveland arrived in Jersey City from his shooting trip on an island in Chesapeake Bay at 7 o'clock this morning on the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk Express of the Pennsylvania Railroad. He came on a private car, belonging to General Superintendent Kenney, of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad. The train was eight minutes late.

Mr. Cleveland's valet, for whom he had telegraphed from Annapolis, Va., last night, appeared in the depot about 7:30 o'clock, having left his distinguished employer's private carriage at the ferry entrance, where, with the exception of a small squad of reporters, the valet was the only one on hand to meet the President-elect.

As Mr. Cleveland stepped out of the private car he was followed by the colored porter, leading a white and yellow spotted pointer dog, Mr. Cleveland wore a black suit and a black and white check tie. He carried over his left arm another black pointer dog, and he walked briskly down the platform to meet the President-elect.

Mr. Cleveland's valet, for whom he had telegraphed from Annapolis, Va., last night, appeared in the depot about 7:30 o'clock, having left his distinguished employer's private carriage at the ferry entrance, where, with the exception of a small squad of reporters, the valet was the only one on hand to meet the President-elect.

As Mr. Cleveland stepped out of the private car he was followed by the colored porter, leading a white and yellow spotted pointer dog, Mr. Cleveland wore a black suit and a black and white check tie. He carried over his left arm another black pointer dog, and he walked briskly down the platform to meet the President-elect.

MORELLO HELD FOR MURDER.
To Answer for the Shooting of Mele in Mulberry Bend.

Morello's Wife Throws Klases at Him and Then Faints.

Jealousy or revenge is responsible for another Mulberry Bend tragedy, in which Francisco Mele, a one-eyed Italian organ grinder, was killed, and Carmine Bianchi, a baker of 115 Canal street, slightly wounded by Antonio Morello, a stranded husband.

Mele, Bianchi and the wife of Morello, who it is alleged, is indirectly responsible for the affair, were in the Tombs Police court this morning.

Bianchi's statement accusing Morello of having shot and killed Mele in cold blood was taken, and upon the strength of it the prisoner held until tomorrow in the United States District court.

Morello is a labor contractor and keeps a saloon at 31 Mulberry street, which is tenanted by his wife, Gaetano. The woman is well known in the bend, and has a reputation for liberality in dispensing free drinks during her husband's absence.

EXTRA.
2 O'CLOCK.
A POPE OF AMERICA.
Power Given to Satelli to Settle All Questions Without Appeal.

Dr. McGlynn's Case May Be the First He Will Consider.

Leo's Ill-Health the Apparent Reason for the Step.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. BIRMINGHAM, Dec. 5.—The announcement made last night that Mr. Satelli had been appointed by the Pope with full power to settle without appeal all religious questions between bishops and priests in the United States, has caused considerable excitement in Catholic circles here.

The announcement was made by Cardinal Gibbons. An effort to interview him on the subject was unavailing, the only thing that leaked from him being a confirmation of the report. What was the cause of the appointment or when it was made he refused to say.

Leo's ill-health has been the cause of a sensation in Catholic circles here. The Pope's mission as a special representative of the Pope, but none had conjectured that he would be entrusted with such autocratic power as would practically make him the Pope of America.